CNC MACHINING PROTOTYPING

“ THE CNC MACHINING MARKET IS EXPECTED TO REACH USD 100.86 BILLION BY 2025, A CAGR OF 7.0% 2019 TO 2025.

MARKET INSIGHTS

Increasing demand from the automotive, industrial, and power & energy sectors is anticipated to fuel additional growth in the industry. This is compounded by the growth of mass production of workpieces, from automobile manufacturers, at minimal time and expenses, which is pushing up the machine requirements for mills and lathes. The CNC machine market outlook looks extremely promising; mainly due to rapidly growing tool-making sectors worldwide. The CNC machine industry has always been subject to technological upgrades, and more automation is expected to come in to meet customer demands for efficiency gains.

SPECULATED MARKET DOMINANCE: ASIA-PACIFIC JAPAN & SOUTH KOREA

- The regional segmentation is bifurcated into the Asia Pacific, especially in Japan and South Korea. These two markets have been consistently dominating the global
- CNC machine market and is estimated to maintain its market position in the coming years as well.
- Raw material advantage and the availability of cost-competitive workforces in the region are the major factors impacting the CNC machine market growth.
- Companies that can be suitable to partner with

CASE STUDY

The Next Supply Chain Disruption in CNC Manufacturing. On-demand manufacturing in the cloud, 3d printing, and CNC manufacturing, is having an ever-greater impact on production. This new manufacturing approach promises ultimately to drive a significant rethink of how supply chains function and make companies outsource the parts.

By making advanced capabilities available at factory networks across multiple locations, companies such as Fast Radius, Fathom Digital Manufacturing, Xometry and Protolabs are cutting lead time and altering the logistics equation for parts production. They're making it easier and faster to iterate prototypes and providing an alternative sourcing solution for lower volume production parts. (Good timing for CNC Shop floor to go global)

PRECISION MACHINING TECHNOLOGY SHOW (PMTS) 2023 (CLEVELAND, OHIO)

PMTS gives you the opportunity to attend a show that's been put together just for you – manufacturers of precision machined parts. For 3 days, all the vendors will be concentrated in one place gathering thousands of potential clients. It is a great chance for industry specialists to socialize and discuss CNC automation. It is a great opportunity for CNC Floor Shop to raise brand awareness and widen its network. WorldProNet's representatives based in the USA will assist you with that every step of the way
